The Times and Democrat, Orangeburg, S. C.We have to take the world as it is and not as we think it ought to be, but that need not interfere with our efforts to bring the world up to our ideal.The journey of life is tollsome enough at its best but how much of its tollsomeness would be avoided if people would not imagine difficulties in the path that do not exist.When one considers the influence a woman has in the home life to soften it and make it cheerful and pure, she should be encouraged by loving word and deed on the part of her husband and children.When business men and corporations are tempted to make money dishonestly they would do well to follow the example of the old Scotch merchant who wrote in his brass-bound, leather covered ledger, "O Lord, keep me and this bulk honest."President Taft's corporation tax will not help the people much nor take much from the corporation in the way of taxes. It will allow the corporations to extract one dollar from your pocket, of which loot the Government will get one cent. It will work admirably for the big corporations.Butter from kerosene is one of the latest by-products promised by the Standard Oil, at least so it is said.
If it should prove true and vegetar-ianism also replace the ordinary diet of most people, the cow will ultimately find its vocation gone. But as yet farmers show no disposition to sell their herds at a sacrifice and the price of butter and beef steadily rises.Most of the Union Veterans in the Northern States vote the Republican ticket, imagining that the Republicans of today stand for the policies and ideals advocated by Lincoln. In this they are mistaken. The very predatory interests Lincoln fought and condemned are in control of the Republican party, and they use it to plunder the masses of the people for their own benefit.The Appeal to Reason says "the people are so easily fooled. They enjoy being fooled and they sternly resent any interference with their privilege of being fooled, and now to be consistent they ought to send resolutions of thanks to Wickersham for apologizing to the Beef Trust and humbly petition Taft to put on another farce to fool them and make them cheer madly for being the greatest fools on earth."Not for a fraction but for the state, is a maxim that will apply as well to a community as to a commonwealth. Many towns have been ruined or seriously injured because of faction feeling. Any place can be built up and made to prosper when its citizens intelligently work together for its welfare. On the other hand the natural advantages which a place may possess are often neutralized by a lack of harmony and public spirit.Affairs in Germany show that the cause of responsible government is making headway. Prince Von Buelow resigned because of an adverse vote in the legislature, and the new chancellor, Bethmann-Hollweg, is said to be a liberal and sympathetic with the working classes. Thus surely if slowly political reforms make headway in Germany as in every land. Temporary reaction may occur occasionally but nothing can permanently withstand the cause of popular government.Prof. Osler, who was alleged to have said that every man reaching the age of sixty should be deformed because he was no more use to the world, has himself recently reached the fatal age. If he ever did say it he has evidently changed his mind for he shows no disposition to resign his office. As a matter of fact age and usefulness are frequently not so much a question of years as of disposition. Some men are old at forty with usefulness greatly impaired while others do their best work late in life.A young woman at a fashionable summer resort was attractive in personal appearance but that was more offset by a lawlessness and disregard of parental control. So pronounced were these failings that the girl made herself obnoxious to all. In commenting upon her behavior her mother said, "she always had her own way." That remark explained the whole case. Nothing sooner spoils a child than to let it have its own way in everything. A wise, firm and loving exercise of parental authority is what every home needs.

Surviving Union Veterans.

According to an estimate prepared by the record and pension office in 1896, and again reviewed in 1905, by the military secretary of the war department and accepted as the most accurate estimate possible, the probable number of individual Federal soldiers alive at the end of the civil war was 1,652,173, excluding the deserters. The survivors in 1909 is put down at 665,832.The calculation that in 1909 there are still 665,832 surviving out of a total of 1,652,173 who were living in 1865, forty-four years ago seems buoyant, to say the least. It is not easily conceivable that the average age of the recruits enlisted in 1861 could have been less than twenty years. It was perhaps considerably more; but, accepting that basis, the average age of the survivors today who enlisted in 1861 must be at least sixty-eight, and of the survivors who enlisted in 1864 at least sixty-five. That is a mighty fine record for nearly 700,000 out of a little over 1,500,000 of men taken haphazard in the first place and enrolled without great severity of physical examination.We think we may regard the estimate of this war department memorandum without any great amount of hesitation. Let us add to the 1,652,173 survivors in 1865 the 359,528 who are known to have died during the four years of hostilities and so reach the grand total of 2,011,701 for the honor roll of the civil war.The survivors of the Union Army at this time number more than the number of soldiers enrolled by the Confederacy from the first to the last of the war. This shows what odds the South had to contend with on the field of battle, to say nothing of the vast resources of the North in provisions and war supplies of every kind. The fact that forty-four years after the great struggle the veterans of the Union armies numbers more than all the men that composed the Southern armies from first to last is a silent but eloquent tribute to the bravery of the Confederate soldier.
We would like to know how many of the Confederate soldiers are still in the flesh. As the years go by the grim old reaper gets busier and busier, and the ranks of the noble heroes who followed the immortal Lee and other noble chieftains grows thinner and thinner. Soon the roll will be called and none of the grandest armies that ever trod the earth will be left to answer to his name. The passing of the old Veterans makes us feel sad.

Busting the Trusts.

During the incumbency of one Theodore Roosevelt in the presidency we used to hear a great deal about trust busting. One of the trusts that he seemed to have a special grudge against was the Beef Trust.
Special attorneys were employed at a great expense and the boast was made that the Beef Trust would soon be laid low by the mighty powers of the federal administration. The end has come at last and it is just as we expected and just as it must have been. Attorney General Wickersham, the Wall Street lawyer, has put a quietus on the proposition.A Washington correspondent says "by one stroke of the pen George W.
Wickersham, formerly personal attorney for J. P. Morgan and partner of Brother Henry Taft, Wall Street, New York, and now attorney general of the United States, has brought to naught months of patient work in Beef Trust rebate cases." According to this correspondent Wickersham, the attorney general and trust lawyer, ended the cases in a manner peculiarly refreshing in its frankness and directness. He did not beat around the bush. As a trust lawyer in a trust administration he treated the Beef Trust as it deserves to be treated in the house of his friends.Wickersham simply wrote a letter to the Beef Trust firms saying that he knew they intended to do no wrong and that no good could come by prosecuting them in the courts. This is the easiest and most convenient method of ending the Beef Trust cases. Roosevelt swooped down upon them in one of his justly celebrated San Juan hill charges with plumes flying and trumpets braying, and all the world applauding, and now the whole fiasco ends by Wickersham apologizing on behalf of the administration and asking the Beef Trust to excuse the government for what was done before the election to fool the people into voting for four more years of trust administration.

Some Common Mistakes.

That there are a good many mistakes in life everyone will admit.
Some people have tried to number them but probably have not succeeded to their satisfaction. Here are some of the most common the mundane of which may lead to some re-medication: It is a great mistake to set up our standard of right and wrong, and judge people accordingly; to expect uniformity of opinion in this world; to measure the enjoyment of others by our own; to look for judgment and experience in youth; to worry ourselves and others with what cannot be remedied; not to relieve the needs of others who need relief as far as lies in our power; to expect to understand everything and to undervalue what we cannot understand.In discussing the liquor question it would be well to remember that other people can differ with you on it and be just as honest as you are.
There are people who believe that the dispensary law enforced as it is in this county is a better temperance measure than the so-called prohibition that they have in many of the counties. Some people who hold this view are better prohibitionists really than some of those who proclaim from the housetops that they are prohibitionists and want a man hanged if he differs with them to theslightest degree on the liquor question. We saw this amply illustrated a short time ago. We heard a man abusing another because he held that the dispensary was a better way of contrasting the liquor question than prohibition. Now this so-called prohibitionist is a steady drinker. He never comes to town but what he gets some colored brother to buy him several bottles of beer and hide it out where he can find it and drink it. The other man is a total abstainer. Now, which of these two men is the best prohibitionist? People should sweep before their own doors before they worry about the trash of their neighbors.

WAS INTOLERABLEGirl of Six Months had Fearful Attack of Eczema—Spread All Over Her Face and Eyes Began to Swell—Scratched Till Blood Came—Relieved in a Night andCURED BY CUTICURA AFTER LONG SUFFERING"When my little girl was six months old I noticed small red spots on her right cheek. I did not pay any attention to them but finally the spots grew so large that I sent for the doctor who said it was ringworm. He prescribed an ointment which I used for two weeks, but instead of helping the eruption, the ointment seemed to make it worse. Then I went to a second doctor who after examining the baby said it was eczema. He also gave me an ointment which did not help either. The disease in the meantime spread all over the face and the eyes began to swell. I became very anxious.
The itching grew intolerable. I had to tie the baby's hands to the cradle to prevent her scratching. The cheeks were covered with blood and it was a terrible sight to see. I consulted doctors from September to December, but they were unable to cure the baby. I paid out from twenty to thirty dollars without relief."One of my friends told me of the Cuticura Remedies and I sent at once for a set which I began to use that evening. The next morning the baby's face was all white instead of red and you can imagine how surprised I was. I cannot find words enough to praise Cuticura and I do not know what would have become of my baby only for it. I used the Cuticura Remedies until the eczema entirely disappeared. The child is now three years old and quite well. I used three cakes of Cuticura Soap, two boxes of Cuticura Ointment and one bottle of Cuticura Resolvent and I never use any other soap. I always recommend them whenever there is a chance for doing so.
I will send you one of the pictures which she had taken just after she was healed. Mrs. P. E. Gumbin, Sheldon,

WE MUST HAVE ROOM

Profit is not thought of—cost is lost sight of. No matter what, write us an open order—we'll fill it as carefully as though you were standing at our elbow—and save you from one-third to one-half on every purchase.Better Not Get DyspepsiaIf you can help it, Kodol prevents Dyspepsia, by effectually helping Nature to Relieve indigestion.
But don't trifle with Indigestion.A great many people who have trifled with indigestion, have been sorry for it when nervous or chronic dyspepsia resulted. And they have not been able to cure it.
Use Kodol and prevent having Dyspepsia.Everyone is subject to indigestion. Stomach derangement follows stomach abuse, just as naturally and just as surely as a sound and healthy stomach results upon the taking of Kodol.When you experience sourness of stomach, belching of gas and nauseating fluid, bloated sensation, gnawing pain in the pit of the stomach, heart burn (so-called), diarrhoea, headaches, dullness or chronic tired feeling—you need Kodol. And then the quicker you take Kodol—the better. Eat what you want, let Kodol digest it.Ordinary pepsin "dyspepsia tablets," physics, etc., are not likely to be of much benefit to you, in digestive ailments. Pepsin is only A. C. Dukes and A. C. Doyle & Co.a partial digester—and physics are not digesters at all.
Kodol is a perfect digester. If you could see Kodol digesting every particle of food, of all kinds, in the glass test-tubes in our laboratories, you would know this just as well as we do.Nature and Kodol will always cure a sick stomach—but in order to be cured, the stomach must rest.
That is what Kodol does—rests the stomach, while the stomach gets well. Just as simple as A, B, C.
